Mr Joseph Roach

Joseph Roach is a former senior executive with the Departments of Finance and Defence. Joseph has a long-standing interest in public finance, publicly funded capital projects, and inter-generational equity.

His research on the potential funding base for an Australian inter-generational transfer tax has informed the examination of these issues by the Grattan Institute and the Productivity Commission.