The 2015 Australasian Aid Conference will bring together researchers and practitioners from across Australia, the Pacific and Asia who are working on aid and international development policy to share insights, promote collaboration, and help develop the research community.

We welcome papers from academics and practitioners on the following topics:

- > Aid effectiveness, at both the micro and macro level
- > The political economy and politics of aid
- > Aid and security
- > Aid from traditional and/or non-traditional donors
- > International public goods
- > Migration and international trade policy, from a development perspective
- > The international aid and development architecture, including the G20, World Bank, and other international agencies
- > International climate change negotiations and architecture.
