

Lunchbox debate: beyond the budget - where next for tertiary education?

Monday 15 September 1– 2.30pm

Speakers

Julie Hare

The Australian

Professor Bruce Chapman

Crawford School of Public Policy, ANU

Professor Glenn Withers

Crawford School of Public Policy, ANU

John Niland AC

Board of Macquarie Group and
Macquarie Bank

Location

Weston Theatre

Level 1, Crawford School, Building 132,
Lennox Crossing, ANU

Registration required

W bit.ly/1zOe5jd

T 02 6125 4387

This event is free and open to the public

From the recent budget's suggested changes to HECS to developing our TAFEs, and from reforming research funding to developing world-class universities, the tertiary education system is front page news.

In this Lunchbox Debate – a special event of Policy Outlook 2014 - a panel of leading experts will look at the measures affecting tertiary education in this year's budget. The panellists will discuss the proposed changes to HECS, the plans for university deregulation and how the government has argued its proposed changes to the electorate.

Panellists include Editor of The Australian's Higher Education section Julie Hare, the architect of the HECS system Professor Bruce Chapman, former CEO of Universities Australia Professor Glenn Withers, and John Niland AC, who is currently on the Board of Macquarie Group and Macquarie Bank.

This event forms part of the activities of ANU Policy Outlook 2014 at ANU Public Policy Week. Spaces are strictly limited, but the event will be livestreamed for those not able to make it along on the day. A light lunch will be provided.

Presented by

Crawford School of Public Policy

ANU College of
Asia & the Pacific