What was it like on the ground during the Nepalese earthquake? Liz Satow coordinated the entire NGO response to the Nepalese earthquake and has some incredible insights.

World Vision Nepal's National Director Liz Satow will share her experience of the 2015 earthquakes and how World Vision has been working with communities, the Government, and other NGOs to restore services.

She will also talk about the challenge of quickly switching the focus from long-term development activities into short-term relief operations and then planning for the transition back to development activities again.

Liz Satow has held positions as Relief Coordinator and Security Officer for World Vision Jerusalem/West Bank/Gaza and Consultant for the World Vision Pacific Development Group. In 2006, Liz joined World Vision's Global Rapid Response Team (GRRT), where she responded to major disasters for over six years. Following the GRRT, Liz took on the role of the Humanitarian Design, Monitoring and Evaluation Advisor for the Asia Pacific Region in World Vision. She has held her current position as World Vision Country Director for Nepal since July 2014.

A light lunch will be provided at 12pm.

This public lecture is presented by the Development Policy Centre at Crawford School of Public Policy, The Australian National University.
